

Reflection for Today

The thought strikes us that the first Pentecost must have been an exciting time to be alive in the church. The atmosphere was joyful, change was in the air and the outpouring of God’s love upon all of creation was like a river in flood. However the coming of the Holy Spirit was not something that happened only at the foundation of the church. The living breath of God is at work in every age as a permanent feature renewing and building up the body of the church. The gift of the Holy Spirit, given at Pentecost, is available to the worshipping community gathered here, provided we are open and willing to receive it. He acts through human persons like ourselves but depends on our response to his promptings. If we are prepared to live our lives according to his guidance and inspiration, by always doing what we sincerely believe is right, there will be no limit to the support he will give us.

It’s very hard, O God, to be brave, to compete well in the race of life. There are so many complicated situations and so many demands on my time. I want to believe that you are always with me, helping me step out “into the unknown.” I need deeper faith in you and greater confidence so that I might run toward the imperishable prize of your grace and love fearlessly and well. Amen.
